Château de Breuil has 42ha of orchards in the Pays d'Auge region, where the climatic conditions are perfect for growing apples for brandy.

Distillation over a naked flame and twenty years ageing in wood have resulted in this single cask of perfectly aged Calvados, which has been bottled at full strength, making it even more of a rarity.

It combines a beautiful baked apple crumble aroma with a fresh green apple flavour mingled with soft spice; it really opens up in the glass after 15 minutes or so, if you can manage to wait that long.
